Dear Members,

3 April 2020

In this time of coronavirus pandemics where business has been affected to different extent or even be suspended entirely, it was hardly encouraging for us to meet many members online at the last Annual General Meetings 2020 of the three respiratory societies, which were held last Saturday. This was our first time in history that society business meetings were held online.

With the prevailing COVID situation, we have cancelled Annual Scientific Meeting 2020 that was originally planned in March 2020. It was also endorsed on our Council meeting online that we will try our best to deliver quality CPD/CNE activities and we are looking forward to release a series of online CPD/CNE activities in due course.

With all your support, we will stand up with all our positive energy to fight against the negative impact of this terrible coronavirus.

With you all stay safe and healthy.
